

Visuals	Scripts	Pantalla	Observaciones	TOMAS
Title Card: Decoding English graphemes that sound different in Spanish: A, H, I, J, Q, R, U, Z.
Recognition	Teacher: Cat PCV: Cat Teacher: Hat PCV: Hat Teacher: Pig PCV: Pig Teacher: General PCV: General Teacher: Cut PCV: Cut Teacher: Zoo PCV: Zoo Teacher: Quite PCV: Quite
Articulation	Graphemes are individual letters and groups of letters that represent single sounds. Examples of these graphemes are the “s’ and the “oo” in spoon. Understanding how letters are used to encode speech sounds in written language is very important in learning to decode unfamiliar	Voz on	Las palabras van apareciendo y desapareciendo conforme se van diciendo

Visuals	Scripts	Pantalla	Observaciones	TOMAS
	words. Students who have the ability to decode well can teach themselves new words. While some letters might share the same symbol in Spanish and English they sound very different. The following are several English graphemes, with their pronunciation, that tend to confuse English language learners: A- IPA sound /æ/ Example Word cat H- IPA sound /h/ Example Word hat I- IPA sound /ɪ / Example Word pig, give J- IPA sound /dʒ / Example Word general, jar Q- IPA sound /kw/ Example Word quite, quit R- IPA sound /r/ Example Word red, try U- IPA sound /ʌ/ Example Word cut , bud Z- IPA sound /z/ Example Word zoo, lazy
Practice / Production	Practice saying the following sentences with a classmate. Put emphasis on the pronunciation of the boldfaced words The cat is on the roof. The clown is wearing a huge hat. I have a pet pig. The show was quite good. We cut the grass yesterday. We went to the zoo last Sunday.	Voz off	Aparece texto en pantalla

